

STRIKING TAXI DRIVERS APPLY FOR RELIEF FUND

Transportation Virtually At Standstill In Philadelphia

IN FOR LONG FIGHT

Management, Drivers Firm On Their Ground; Advise Against Disorder

Philadelphia, Aug. 16—With taxicab transportation virtually at a standstill, striking drivers of the Yellow Cab Company, today dug in for a long fight by filing applications for unemployment relief.

Both the management and the drivers, members of the A. F. of L., are standing firm on their ground, and the company announced no attempts will be made to operate until the strike is settled. Anticipating a long battle, union officials advised the drivers to guard against disorder and to apply at once for relief.

E. S. Higgins, president, said the union's demands would put the company into bankruptcy. Charles Piroli, president of the cab local, retorted that the union would thrust its demand downward if the company can show them that they couldn't afford to meet them.

Meanwhile, representatives of the Philadelphia Storage Battery Company and the United Radio Workers of the C. I. O. accepted Mayor Wilson's invitation to talk over the strike which has kept the giant plant closed since May 1st.

FEAR TROUBLE IF STATUTE IS EVOLVED

Europe Expects Trouble When Czechoslovakia Minorities Finally Get Control

TO BE SHORT-LIVED

By Pierre J. Huss
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—(INS)—Conceived in an atmosphere of ill-will and regarded as a harbinger of worse to come, the so-called Nationalities Statute evolved in Prague to pacify Sudetan German demands for autonomy has a fair chance of being greeted at birth as the most unwanted child of a modern epoch.

Neither Germany, Czechoslovakia or any of the major European Powers care to spread out the red carpet and ring the bells for its initiation into the world. Germany and jointly with her, the Sudetan Germans, flatly reject and disavow it as lacking the solution demanded—namely home rule and nothing but.

The Czechs themselves dislike it because the Statute, whatever its final form, was produced more or less under the common pressure of bigger nations and no matter how clever the tactics and manoeuvres adopted to avoid too great concessions, there nevertheless, must automatically be contained some sort of compromise to pacify the outcry, every bit of which entails an actual loss to the Republic of Czechoslovakia, regardless of arguments and counter-arguments.

The Big Powers outside Germany care none for the Statute because it represents to them a leap pregnant with trouble and no matter what is done, somebody will be sore. Skeptics are of the opinion that either the Statute—whatever its final form—must be short-lived or else Czechoslovakia itself will have to be.

As these observers seem to think, there is not room enough in Central Europe for a satisfactory Statute of the Minorities and a flourishing Republic in which to plant and foster it. British and French pressure in Continued On Page Six

Indications Point To Great Legal Battle In Hines Case

By James L. Kilgallen
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(INS)—It's going to be a great battle—this courtroom drama of "Dewey versus Hines." Everything pointed that way today as the tedious task of selecting a jury was resumed. The defendant, James J. Hines, by his demeanor and that of his chief counsel, Lloyd P. Stryker, indicated they are determined to battle America's No. 1 "racket buster." District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, every inch of the way.

Not a whit less pugnacious was Dewey, who never has handled defendants with kid gloves. Dewey has been in such fights before but he never has had an adversary of the type of Hines, the powerful political leader, who in recent years has had more "say so" than any man in Tammany Hall.

Six jurors had been picked when Judge Ferdinand Pecora re-convened court this morning, and there was every indication that a jury of twelve, and two alternates, would be chosen some time today. Immediately afterward, Dewey will launch into his opening statement dealing with what the prosecution contends it can prove against Hines.

Dewey charges Hines with having been mixed in the policy racket run by the late "Dutch" Schultz, a gangster who was "rubbed out" by underworld enemies. Dewey accuses Hines of "intimidating, influencing and bribing" city officials—of having been the arch "fixer" for the Schultz syndicate which, according to one estimate, grossed $100,000,000 a year.

OPEN TWO-WEEKS' CAMPAIGN TO RAISE $2500 FOR UNIFORM FUND FOR CADET CORPS OF R. W. BRACKEN POST, NO. 382

Committee of Legion Members, Headed by Clifford L. Anderson as Honorary Chairman, Appeals to Public of This Community to Voluntarily Contribute to This Fund

CADETS IS WORTHWHILE YOUTH MOVEMENT WHICH SHOULD BE SUBSTANTIALLY SUPPORTED

Quick Response Requested As Drive Will End August 30th

To The Public:

We, as members of a committee representing Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion, have been named to raise a fund of $2500 for the maintenance of uniforms of the American Legion Cadet Corps of our Post. This fund is absolutely necessary if this work in this community is to continue, and the only manner in which such a fund can be raised is through appeal to the public of Bristol and the adjacent community for voluntary contributions.

The work among the youth of this area, as represented by the Cadet Corps, speaks, we think, for itself. Our Post has been highly commended time after time, not only by residents of this section, but those of other communities in which the Corps has visited.

The Corps has grown and developed under the leadership of Legionnaires and the principles of Americanism and discipline have been instilled into every individual member. Scholastic standings must be maintained by those who are affiliated with the Corps, and the rules and regulations tend to the up-building of manhood. Those who are members are in the plastic years of youth, and it is the constant endeavor of those guiding them, to so mould their habits, during this formative period, that they will develop into worthwhile men, who will truly represent Americanism.

Clifford L. Anderson, Burgess of Bristol, has consented to act as honorary chairman of our committee. He has wholeheartedly endorsed this campaign for funds, lending his signature to appeals broadcast by the committee. The committee has also obtained the sponsorship for this drive of a group of representative citizens of this community. These will be published from time to time, as well as a series of informative articles which will enlighten the public as to the progress and development, the objects, aims and purposes of the Cadet Corps.

We appeal to those who approve of this work among the youth of this area to contribute substantially to this fund, which it is our object to raise. The campaign must be short, and will extend from August 16th to August 30th, inclusive, and a prompt response will be appreciated. Contributions are to be handled by the Bristol Trust Company, which has agreed to act as depository during this effort.

Appreciative of your previous support, and soliciting your contribution to this effort, we appeal to you to act promptly and forward your donation at once.

BUSINESS MEN CONSIDER PARKING REGULATIONS

South Langhorne Association Meets in Regular Monthly Session

OTHER MATTERS AIRD

SOUTH LANGHORNE, Aug. 16.—A meeting of the South Langhorne Business Men's Association was held at Flannery's restaurant and many topics of importance to the community were discussed.

The committee on parking had a very satisfying report to make inasmuch as it was successful in having the parking restrictions along the highway repealed. The signs will be taken down and the curbing which has been painted yellow will either be removed or painted over. State restrictions will be observed in not allowing parking within 30 feet of an intersection.

Erect Large Sign at Curve Where Several Met Death

A large sign has been erected at the canal bridge at Glenn's Corner and Route 13, Penn Valley, warning motorists of the dangerous curve where three people were killed July 28th, and where a number of other fatal accidents have occurred.

The sign is on a white background, measuring about four feet wide and eight feet long. In large black letters studded with reflectors are the words "Danger Curve". Between the words is a large arrow pointing in the direction of the curve.

PERSONAL NEWS NOTES

At a meeting of the board of directors of Newtown Library in the library building, 22 new books were reported added to the library with more new ones soon to be purchased.

The Fall meeting of the Bucks-Montgomery Library Association will be held in Newtown in the Bird-In-Hand building on South Street, recently purchased and restored by Edward H. Barnsley, one of the library directors.

The meeting will be held the fourth Tuesday in October. The morning session will be devoted to business and the afternoon will be in charge of Mr. Barnsley who is preparing a program of unusual interest.

Stover Park was the scene of the annual picnic of the Doylestown Nature Club, and it was attended by the Junior Nature Club and the Sorority.

Picnickers enjoyed swimming in the cool waters of the park lake, but the Senior Club members contented themselves with watching the swimming ability of those who will carry on the traditions of the club in future years.

After a picnic supper eaten in the picnic grove a very entertaining program on "Safety" was given by the Juniors under the leadership of Mrs. William F. Greenawalt. A song, "The Safety Patrol," was sung by four Juniors, while the entire group gave a selection "Needles and Pins." Both these songs reminded the elders of accidents which can happen in the home and told how they can be prevented.

Columnist Says Baron Gottfried Von Cramm is Dead

LONDON, Aug. 16.—(INS)—Baron Gottfried Von Cramm, former ace German tennis star and bulwark of the Reich's Davis Cup team who was imprisoned upon conviction of immorality, has committed suicide, a columnist for the London Daily Sketch reported today.

The columnist, Noel Thompson, said he had learned from an official source that Von Cramm took his life in prison.

The columnist wrote: "It now seems almost certain that Von Cramm is dead. I am told he committed suicide three months ago in the prison to which he was sentenced for one year."

"My authority is an official one which can hardly be questioned, but which itself admits there is no definite proof."

Says $5,000,000 Russian Money Poured Into America

By William S. Neal

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(INS)—Charges that more than $5,000,000 Russian money has been poured into the United States each year in the campaign to Sovietize the nation will be submitted to the Dies House Un-American Activities Committee.

The charges, together with evidence designed to prove their truth, have been laid before a committee investigator and may be barred publicly today.

Chairman Dies (D), of Texas, who said that he expected "startling testimony" during the day, declined to reveal the names of new witnesses in the committee's inquiry into Communist activities.

Very Attractive

By the Stroller
What a little planning and a little effort can accomplish in the way of beautifying a property is illustrated at the Paterson Parchment plant. What previously was just a field has been transformed into a fine lawn. There are trees and bushes and ducks swim in a pond.

An artistic sign has been erected carrying the name of the firm and the attractiveness of this has been enhanced by shrubbery. The sign is illuminated by flood lights and reflected in the pond, giving to the whole a very attractive appearance.

NEWPORTVILLE YOUTH'S CAR TO RACE TONIGHT

Midget Built by William Bailey, Jr., To Be Piloted In 50-Lap Event

BUILT IN SPARE TIME

NEWPORTVILLE, Aug. 16.—A Newportville lad of 16 years is to have the thrill this evening of seeing a midget racer, which he built, whirl around a Frankford stadium, in the first race in which he has entered the "speed-wagon."

Two years ago, when 14 years of age, William Bailey, Jr., commenced building the "midget," and recently completed the job. The race in which he is entering the machine tonight will be a 50-lap one at the Yellowjackets' Stadium, Frankford, under sanction of the A. A. A.

It is claimed the car should be capable of nearly 100 miles per hour, and in tests in this section, those who have witnessed the try-outs state it performs well.

Bailey has been partially employed for the last few months, and the work on the car has been done in his spare time, purchasing the parts from money he earned himself. He is definitely mechanically-minded, preferring work on motors to participation in sports.

Not content with using any motor available, for months he worked his opportunity to secure the type engine he desired, and at last secured a 60-h-p V-8 motor at an automobile graveyard, despite the fact this type of motor has been out only about two years.

Many visitors have stopped at the Bailey home to see the racer, which is of standard midget size.

Piloting the car for Bailey tonight will be "Walt" Buckman, of Somerton.

"Hobo Camp" Near Yardley Raided; 3 Men Arrested

YARDLEY, Aug. 16.—Acting on numerous complaints of petty thievery, special officer James Marlen raided the "hobo camp" below the railroad bridge, and arrested three colored men on suspicion, detaining them in the lock-up while fingerprints were checked with the New Jersey state police.

The three men, George Lee, 15 Center street, Morristown, N. J.; Albert Clarke, Kennett Square; and George Nickols, New York City, were named given by the three held under suspicion. The remaining six men were hastened on their journeys.

The official records showed that Lee has been arrested nine times in New Jersey for assault and battery, and similar charges; Clarke had a record dating back to 1916 when he was sent to Rahway Reform School for carrying concealed weapons, and since his release from the school he has served time 14 places in New Jersey; and Nickols had only served time in four arrests.

At the hearing before Justice of the peace, George D. Hackett, Clarke was sent to the county jail at Doylestown for 30 days, while the other two were speeded on their way.

"The Hobo Shack" is constructed of old automobile bodies, tin cans, and other discarded items from a large dump. It serves as sleeping quarters for transients, while they allegedly comb the neighborhood for food, taking milk and bread from porches.

Officer Marlen during the past week has received 127 calls, consisting of various complaints, including nude bathing, cross dogs, assault and battery, auto accidents, etc. All were settled without arrests except the vagrancy case, at which time when faced with back records, Clarke confessed to his part in the charges.

They are now praying that the priming doesn't blow the machine apart at the top of the climb. Most practical economists agree that pump-priming has not been the stimulator of economic rises in recent years and the English nation has had its recovery while firmly rejecting the pump-priming theory.

Although some people don't seem to realize it, the Constitution is being amended and the Bill of Rights modified under their very noses. The basic rights involved are freedom of speech, freedom of thought, freedom of the press, and the rights to own property, to have counsel for defense, and to participate in the election of public officials.

The National Labor Board is the amender. It or its agents have assailed Henry Ford for expressing his personal views about labor organizations and organizers; declared that a speech by a Congressman cannot be distributed to workers in factories; disbarred a lawyer who declined to be told when to sit and when to stand; condoned sit-down strikes; deprived the owner of private streets of the right to keep some people off them; removed a trial examiner who made the mistake of reading some newspaper editorials; criticized a group of men for working for the election of public officials.

The Labor Board prides itself on its "liberalism." It is so liberal with Constitutional rights that it modifies them by ruling, holding that some folks can neither say nor read nor think what they wish just because they happen to be involved in a proceeding before the board.

Some observers in Washington wonder whether the Labor Board has ever read that remark by one of the world's greatest liberals, Voltaire, who said:

"I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

And to cap the climax, the A. F. of L. has now charged the Labor Board is biased and has hinted it may ignore the Board's rulings.

Only one-third of the primary balloting is over, but the election juggernaut already is taking an unusually high toll. The names of 23 present members of the national House of Representatives, more than five per cent, will not even appear on the November general election ballots. Three Senators have been eliminated so far.

If that trend continues, the turnover even before the November voting will be nearly 16 per cent, abnormally high.

Was it wishful thinking or sarcasm when five officers of the United Automobile Workers Union on trial for alleged Communist activities greeted their president with a "Hell Hitler!" and a Nazi salute??

Either way, somebody must have Fascistic inclinations.

LOOKING FORWARDBy Franklyn Waltman
Publicity Director, Republican National Committee

Perhaps no objective has received New Deal agencies—leading to widespread confusion on the part of business—is well illustrated by R. F. C. Chairman Jesse Jones' one-man campaign to have the banks of the country loosen their purse strings and be more generous with loans.

Mr. Jones became quite bellicose about it. He warned that if the banks did not liberalize their lending policies, it might become necessary for an extension of governmental credit facilities. He even went so far as to suggest that the banks use their depositors' money for loans now usually made by finance companies with stockholders' money specifically put up for that purpose.

The fact of the matter is that most of the country's bankers feel they have been making all the sound loans possible within the limits of good bank management. They are as anxious to make money as anyone else, but they remember only too well that the banks which pursued liberal and generous lending policies prior to the first depression were among the banks which did not reopen in 1933.

But that is not the point at which we are driving. The point is that after Mr. Jones harvested a great deal of newspaper publicity by threatening the banks for being too tight, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, also a New Deal agency, warned the banks against being too generous with loans.

"Bank supervision is concerned primarily with the protection of depositors," said the F. D. I. C. "As in any other type of business, bankers, if they are to perform their function, must be prepared to assume some risk. But when these risks become excessive in terms of the amount of capital of the bank or when a bank is otherwise mismanaged, it is the duty of the bank supervisor to step in to seek correction."

Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the F. D. I. C., went on to point out that "loans and securities will be criticized on the basis of judgment as to the ability of the obligor or debtor to repay the obligation."

And some people wonder why business is confused and uncertain! In this case the banker is in the dilemma of being told by Mr. Jones that if he does not liberalize his judgment on loans the government will go into competition with him—while Mr. Crowley tells him that if he does and any of his loans go sour he will be held to strict accountability.

But, of course, the most significant aspect of this whole business was the disclosure that the private bank in Houston, Texas, which Mr. Jones controls, has been more than usually cautious in its loan policy. Banker Jones, it seems, does not entertain the same ideas about this matter as does R. F. C. Chairman Jones.

The Jones' bank in its June 30 statement revealed that its loans and discounts amounted only to 16 per cent of its total assets. Recent figures for the 503 Federal Reserve member banks of Texas disclosed that loans and discounts represent 28 per cent of their assets, while for the nation the comparable figure is 29 per cent.

At a recent press conference Mr. Jones was requested to reconcile his demands that the banks loosen up and the cautious policy of his own bank. "I don't want people to do as I do, but as I tell them to do," the R. F. C. Chairman replied.

There, concisely and clearly was epitomized the spirit of the New Deal, not alone in this but in most matters. Anyone who shows an interest in making a profit is assailed as greedy by those in the New Deal who never overlook a single opportunity for private gain.

Much is said about morality in private and public life, yet the White House secretarial offices are turned over to a young man whose income comes chiefly from premiums on insurance sold to corporations doing business with the Federal Government.

Worthless convention books are autographed by the President and sold to corporations—in large quantities, to some—for $250 each to supply the party with funds. Federal workers are shamelessly shaken down for the benefit of the party war chest.

"I don't want people to do as I do, but as I tell them to do"—these words deserve to be painted across the New Deal banner.

BRUNSWICK, Me.—(INS)—Harold Laws of this community narrowly escaped having an experience like Jonah's when a whale chewed three feet of Laws' boat in his zeal to reach herring in Harpswell Bay. On the boat with Laws were his three children, all of whom were frightened by the incident.

GUNS ARE HOBBY

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(INS)—Thirty-five years ago J. W. Sweeney of Placerville came into possession of an odd gun and that gave him the idea for a hobby. Today Sweeney has one of the outstanding collections of firearms on the Pacific Coast, numbering more than 300, some of which are over 200 years old.

ON SCREENS IN BRISTOL

BRISTOL

No less an authority than Fanchon Royer, who has the distinction of being Hollywood's only woman producer, says that a sure remedy for many human ills is the type of nerve-shocking screens thrills seen in "Ten Laps to Go," the current attraction at the Bristol Theatre, and Miss Royer's latest contribution to the screen.

"After all," says Miss Royer, "we are turning out entertainment for the masses to make people forget their troubles and not for the few who prefer the wishy washy sentimental story or the problem play. Most people like to look at scenes that set their blood tingling and hearts beating faster."

College, with its proms and football games, its classes and its commencement, backgrounds Columbia's newest mystery drama, "Extortion," the film which opens today at the Bristol Theatre with Scott Colton and Mary Russell in the principal roles. In depicting the search for the murderer of a hated college proctor, Director Lambert Hillyer made use of an actual classroom at the University of California at Los Angeles. In order to lend authenticity to the picture, in which a "course in advanced murder" is given by police investigators for the benefit of the various suspects of the film.

GRAND

Last night at the Grand Theatre, Danielle Darrieux, France's eye-tying gift to the American screen, came and was seen. And so far as this reviewer and a wildly applauding and laughing house were concerned, she conquered. There need be no hesitation in adding that the dainty, winsome, pouting, prattling Parisian who flashed through every feminine mood in the space of a couple of hours will add the rest of the country to her debut conquest. Universal's fair visitor is superlative and her first American film, "The Rage of Paris" is a gorgeous comedy romance.

And why should it not be. Look what it has in the way of a cast and story. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is co-starred with Danielle, Mischa Auer, looking his most deliciously sad is a comedy waiter. Helen Broderick is teamed with him as a worldly-wise actress pal whose advice gets Mlle. Darrieux into all sorts of tangled trails. Then there is Louis Hayward, one of the more interesting Hollywood leading men, as the third side of the romantic triangle and such dextrous veterans as Charles Coleman, Samuel S. Hinds, Nella Walker and Harry Davenport appear in fetching character portrayals.

The elfin star has all the verve that popular novels and travels' anecdotes ascribe to French beauty. She can say more with her eyes than the average star can say in a page of dialogue. She is a creature of moods, turning from grave to gay in the flash of an epigram, and speaking that epigram in the cutest French accent. She is rapturously beautiful but not afraid to make grimaces and play scenes in a suit of men's pajamas that smother her tiny form. Yes, Danielle Darrieux has what it takes and we hope she is going to stay with us a long time.

Behind the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

Copyright, 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.
HOLLYWOOD — Sympathy of this column goes to Freddie Bartholomew who is staging a one-boy rebellion to get his dressing room changed into the men's building at M-G-M.

Freddie Bartholomew

At 14, Freddie still is in the women's building. He has charming neighbors, Myrna Loy on one side and Virginia Bruce across the hall, but the kid thinks he ought to be with Gable, Tracy, Taylor and the rest of the gang.

The studio is willing but Aunt Cissy says she spends more time in Freddie's dressing room than he does and she doesn't think she'd like to be in the men's building.

Freddie's right, though, don't you think?

The Jack Oakies, living apart, pulled a Crawford-Tone and dined together at the Cafe Lamaze. Don't believe these two will reconcile though.

Amusing story from Allan Hale who has moved his makeup kit over to M-G-M for "Listen, Darling".

For months now Hollywood has been hearing about the improved theater seat that Hale invented. Allan says he has been basking in a little false glory on this. He helped develop the invention all right but the man who got the original idea was M. W. Hard.

"We haven't dared contradict the story," said Allan, "for fear somebody would dub our product 'the Hard seat.'"

Wonder when Twentieth Century-Fox is going to carry on with "Stanley and Livingstone".

The studio has just made the last payment to the Masai tribesmen in Africa for their work in the location unit. Payment consisted of 4,000 feet of one-eighth inch copper wire.

The Masai prize it highly for ornamental purposes.

Must have seen how Louis Sobol feel good to see how many people turned out in his honor at the Gene Towne-Graham Baker party. Festivities were in the downstairs room at the Trocadero and most of the guests were well-knowns. There was one party, however, sitting in a booth near the bar. Five, wide-eyed women. Tourists.

They wanted to see the Trocadero and wandered in, not knowing it was a private affair. Learning their mistake, they were making a confused exit when Hosts Towne and Baker came up, invited them to stay and found them a table.

It was a nice gesture and what a thrill it must have been to the visiting ladies.

Then there was the other party of tourists who stopped to look at the home of Myrna Loy. They asked a man working in the garden if Miss Loy was home and, being informed she wasn't, offered him a $5 bill to take them through the house.

He did, from top to bottom. But what the tourists don't know is that the man who took their $5 bill was prank-loving Arthur Hornblow, Jr.

Hottest weather of the summer this week. The sound stages were bad enough but the location troupes fared worse. Glenda Farrell collapsed, working at Calabasas in a wool suit and tweed coat. Has been in bed for two days.

Leo Gorcey, one of the "Dead End" kids, is trying to sell Warners a story called "There They Go". He used to work at a track. Was a plumber's assistant, too, before he went on the stage. . . . Dick Arien is off the coast of Mexico trying to forget. . . . Leo Reisman stays on at the Coconut Grove until Sept. 5. . . . Very unusual for an orchestra's engagement to be extended there in the summer season. . . . Did Frank Morgan do a Corrigan? He told M-G-M he was going to Catalina and ended up at Ensenada. . . . Chester Morris was knocked down in the free-for-all at the Olympic stadium. . . . Lots of stares at Lupe Velez' partner at the Club 17, but it was only Bo Roos, the agent. . . . Mary Healy and Dick Greene, at the Beverly Wilshire, were a new twosome, however. . . . And here is the funniest of all autograph stories. A couple of tourists at a Hollywood late spot mistook Rube Wolf for Ex-King Alfonso of Spain.

The players:

George Shull, Burlington youth, fighting under the colors of the Penmar club, was brilliant last night in the St. Ann's A. A. outdoor arena, as he pounded his way to a technical knockout over Mose Smith, Sigma Theta, in the second round.

Smith, usually shifty and very clever, was an easy target for the Jersey lad who left jabbed his way into Smith's defense and twice sent him to the floor in the first round with solid cracks to the jaw. The second session was just 39 seconds old when Shull sent a short right to the colored boy's body and he went down for the rest of the night.

The largest crowd of the season packed the outdoor miniature stadium and saw Shull and the rest of his Penmar mates score four victories without a set-back and three coming by the knockout route. The bouts went off in quick order, six being either knockouts or technical kayoes.

The fans were thrilled at the comeback of Andrew Strisi, Penmar, who fought a colored youth, Clyde Johnson, Johnson was the wild sort of fighter and kept swinging wild blows from the opening gong. One of these landed on Strisi's chin and he went down for nine. He arose at nine and jabbed his way out of danger.

He had hardly recovered his bearing when he shot out a straight right to Jackson's mid-section and down went the negro. But the bell came to his rescue. At the beginning of the second there was nothing to it. Strisi swung, hit Jackson, and the bout was ended.

The fans could see that Freddie Budassi, St. Ann's, was not trained to fight a southpaw. His opponent last night, James Ellison, Sigma Theta, threw punches from the southside. Budassi landed few blows and went down three times before Referee Collins stopped the bout after one minute and ten seconds of the first round.

Johnny Forte, brother of the famous amateur boxer, Tommy Forte, got his bout over quick. He fought Charles Benjamin, Roebing, and after sparing for a minute and fifty-five seconds got busy and with a left to the jaw, followed with a short right to the body, ended the bout.

Running into a mess of trouble, Carl Spinelli, St. Ann's, barely eked out a victory over Joseph Tili, unattached. Tili looked great in the first round when he landed hard blows to Spinelli's face and even scored a knock-down. But the second and third rounds went to the St. Ann's boy who finished in the fine style.

Carl Schaum, Roebing, punched entirely too hard for Ray Robinson. Langhorne, and the Bucks Countian took the full count in the second round. Robinson was floored twice in the first and although he possessed plenty of grit, the Jerseyite was too good. George Allen, Sigma Theta, had no trouble with Ernest Gyenge, Roebing, who hardly landed a single blow during the fight which lasted two minutes and fifty-two seconds before the referee intervened.

Hokey Leighton, Rescue Squad, and Joe Amico, Penmar, fought toe to toe in the last bout of the night but in the end, the Philadelphian had the best of the fight. The first round was fairly even. The second and third went to Amico by the slightest of margins. Amico almost floored Leighton in the second at the bell when he shook him with a hard right to the side of the face. Hokey's best punch, in the third round, made Amico's knees sag, but did not cause any extra damage.

AMBLER SCHEDULED TO PLAY LANDRETHS TONIGHT

At Landreth Ball Park tonight Ambler will play Landreth's Seeds and a good game should result.

The club is backed by the Ambler Fire Department and own their field, which is a very fine one located right in Ambler. This club is one of the very best in its section of the state and has been beating most of the better clubs out of Philadelphia throughout the summer. Some of their players play with Quakertown, of the Eastern Pennsylvania League, on Saturdays and Sundays.

In a game early in season the Farmers were victorious 3 to 1, pulling the game out of the fire the last inning. So tonight's contest should be a close and very interesting game. Walter Masterson will be on the mound for the Farmers and on his last time out last Friday evening in Philadelphia he struck out 17 batters. Harvi will be behind the plate. Livezy will throw them up for Ambler with Whitlock on the receiving end. This boy, by the way, caught for Temple University.

The game will start promptly at 6.15.

LAWRENCE, GREEN WIN TRENTON DOUBLES TITLE

Two of Bristol's foremost tennis players, Herb Lawrence and Nelson Green, won their second Trenton (N. J.) city doubles tennis title, Sunday, the top-sided scores being 6-2, 6-1, 6-2. They defeated Frank Wetzel, Jr., and Jim Waldron, after an hour of play.

The games took place on Cadwalader Park courts, and the localities exceeded Waldron and Wetzel in every manner. The Bristol players were never in danger of losing a set.

Lawrence's booming overhead play was supplemented by his partner's excellent ground stroking. The losers, except for a few flashes of brilliance, displayed little of the brand of tennis that carried them to their first championship round.

In the first two sets the Bristolians piled up insurmountable leads and were never headed. They led 3-0 and 5-1 in the first which they took 6-2, and were out in front 5-0 in the second which they won on Lawrence's service 6-1.

The Trenton duo led for the first time after the first game of the third set, holding Waldron's service for a 1-0 advantage. But from here in Waldron and Wetzel were completely outplayed. The Bristol flashes corralled the next five games with the loss of just seven points. Most points were decided at the net.

Wetzel and Waldron fought off three match points in the ninth and finally won the game after it had been decided five times. But Green put an end to what ever hopes this might have raised by winning his service, 4-1, to take set, match and crown. Lawrence and Green outscored their foes, 30 to 19, in the first, 31 to 21 in the second and 30 to 20 in the final set.

Sunday's doubles victory gave Lawrence a clean sweep of men's tennis. Last Monday night Herb completed his conquest of John Talbot, George School Instructor, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 5-7, 7-5 to capture his second city singles diadem. Lawrence may enter the mixed doubles play scheduled for next week in an attempt to make a grand slam of Trenton tennis.

Lawrence and Green participated in their fourth final doubles round in five years, Sunday. In 1934 they inaugurated their championship play by bowing to Norman Swayne and Frank Blank. The following year they collected more runner-up trophies when they lost to Abbie Rednor and Leon Levy.

In 1936 the Bristol pair captured their first doubles title by upsetting the defending champions, Rednor and Levy, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. Last year Lawrence and Green did not enter the doubles play.

highway was regarding the new traffic lights. Mr. Henning suggested the association get in touch with Borough Council to have some warning signs put up at a reasonable distance from the lights warning motorists that there are lights in the town. In most cases, Mr. Henning reported, motorists come upon the lights as a complete surprise and are often unable to stop in time and drive through them. Mr. Keating advised that Borough Council had been planning to take some action in the matter and thought it will be unnecessary for the association to take any action.

As another matter on safety, a committee on the matter reported it had been in touch with the department of highways on the matter of having a white line placed on Bellevue avenue. No definite report was made, but the chairman, John Lappan, feels it only a matter of time before the highway department takes this measure.

A very interesting matter in regard to slashing gasoline prices was brought up by Ross Stewart. Mr. Stewart pointed out that one station in South Langhorne was selling gasoline at such a low price that it was becoming more and more difficult to meet the competition. Several of the members offered suggestions as to how the situation can be handled citing their own business difficulties as examples. The matter was put into the hands of a committee made up of the station owners to deal with the situation. This matter was of interest to many of the members other than those involved because it is the purpose of the association to improve business conditions in South Langhorne and it is with interest they are waiting the report of the committee.

Charles O'Brien spoke briefly on the shortage of houses in South Langhorne, stating that with many people coming into the town and attempting to rent or buy houses and with none available, the businesses of South Langhorne were losing an opportunity for improvement. Mr. O'Brien feels that with money available through the Federal Housing Administration it might be possible to interest a contractor to start some construction in the borough.

The organization had set this meeting as the one in which it would join the South Langhorne Fire Company as a body in order to improve the fire company's organization. The South Langhorne Fire Company has been an organization for years serving the community well. The equipment and building are in the best of condition and there are always men on hand when an emergency arises. The company has the reputation of efficiency and service, but in recent years the organization of the company has been left slide. It is the desire of the business men's organization to join as a body and in this way lend aid and ability to revive this civic body. At the close of the meeting the members left for the fire hall to proceed with their plans.

The meeting was unusually well attended, 17 being present and the members' interest in the work at hand made it a very successful one. Following the dinner the meeting was called to order by the president, John Lappan. A report was given by Charles O'Brien that his committee had met with some officials of the Reading Railroad Company to decide on some safety measures to be taken at the railroad crossing to make the gates more noticeable at night. The lights now on the gates can hardly be seen, especially on a foggy or rainy night. The officials promised to take action on this matter. The matter of re-naming the station to include South Langhorne as well as Langhorne has not reached fruition. However, one member reported that time tables now being used by the railroad had the station listed under the joint name. The association feels that the railroad will in due time complete the matter by changing the name on the station.

Prague combined with the initial Nazi outcry after publication may again alter the complexion of the Nationalities Statute before its final enactment, but any solution not providing Home Rule for the Sudetans is bound to fall prey to Nazi objections.

So is the proposed federal union of three states — Bohemia, Moravia and Slovakia — under which arrangement, the Germans on both sides of the border claim, none of the minorities could muster more than 38 per cent and thereby every vestige of local and federal control in the final analysis would remain in Czech hands.

The Nazis claim that such a tri-corned system is merely another maneuver invented by Prague with the full knowledge that it is unacceptable to the Sudetans but that it will again prolong the issue and postpone any real step toward a practical solution.

In fact, if advance indications are correct, such a proposal would even be seized on by the Nazis to magnify their grievances against Prague.

Much depends, no doubt, on the length and the strength of the pressure England and France are willing to exercise in Prague and the circumstances as they stand at the end of that stage of events.

Failing to gain European sympathy during this period of mediation — during which Hitler is marking time — would make the outlook a dark one for Czechoslovakia, for the pulse of the Big Powers at the crucial moment will without doubt influence the final decision of the Fuehrer.

Conjectures say that an internal outburst on the part of the Sudetans may come with the rapid influx thereafter of "volunteers" as in Spain; others say that a compromise will tide over the issue for a couple of years to come in the hope it will solve itself; still others speak of plans to neutralize Czechoslovakia by persuading her to drop her alliance with Russia and France and become a German-friendly state.

Whatever the final outcome, all agree that nobody wants a war over Czechoslovakia and most are convinced there won't be any, despite the uproar.

The company has been contemplating erecting a new fire station, and Charles M. Talley, Telford, is preparing preliminary sketches.
